This is a great initiative to help those in need during this difficult time. To ensure that the families receive the necessary supplies and support, it would be important to create a system for distributing the hygiene kits and sanitizer. This could involve identifying a central point for collection, setting up a delivery system for individuals who are unable to collect their supplies directly, and providing clear instructions on how to use the supplies safely. Additionally, it would be important to provide the families with clear information about any additional support that is available to them, such as
